

Abstract

In the paper using straight line method we get approximation for biharmonic problems with rigidly fixed plate. Further, by means of orthogonal transformation the obtained system is led to the canonical form that enables to analyse approximate solution for deflection and other mechanical characteristics of the plate.